App Description:

On an extraordinary island in the middle of the ocean, you'll find a Cheetah that needs a bandaid. In a nearby neighborhood, a Mouse needs help with some pesky bugs. Across the island you'll discover a forest where you'll find a cute Owl that needs a check up. Let your little one explore Vet Island as an animal doctor healing 16 different animal patients. Collect coins around the island to buy new doctor tools and unlock different animals & environments!

App Background:

Vet Island was created for my daughter. One day she asked "Dad, could you make me an animal doctor game?". So, after months of hard work (mostly during nap, nights and weekends) I'm happy to share Vet Island with the world. I wanted to make a game that was fun to explore and uncover surprises and secrets. Thinking back to the days of Mario, Vet Island is broken up into different levels where kids can discover different animals and tools. Ellie is very happy with the game and has been providing feedback throughout the development process. It was great to hear her ask "Could you add a Cheetah and Paragon Falcon?" and work it into Vet Island.

Developer Bio:

Created specifically for my daughter Ellie as her needs grow, I've published a series of highly engaging and high quality educational apps. From basic eye-hand coordination, to frustration free learning, I've developed these games to help Ellie work on different cognitive skills over the years. I'm passionate about creating safe, beautiful and easy to use apps for her to learn with. From one parent to another, I'm happy to bring you Ellie's Games.
